

High-Energy Hits. Great Harmonies. One Unforgettable Show.

Founded in 2011

Smithville South brings the iconic music of the 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s back to life with an exciting, high-energy show built to keep audiences on their feet.

Made up of seasoned, professional musicians, Smithville South delivers powerhouse renditions of the rock, pop, and country hits that defined generations. With artistic excellence, great harmonies, and a commitment to staying faithful to the original sounds, the band recreates the music audiences know and love — while delivering the energy and excitement of a live performance.

A tribute to the 70s, 80s and 90s... and Beyond!

Jim Conti – guitar, lead and backup vocals

One wicked and flexible guitar player, Jim has the ability to capture both the sound and style of the song making you believe that you are hearing the original. From country to rock to jazz, he moves seamlessly from rhythm to lead all the while singing lead and backup vocals. His years on the road honed his skills, and gave him the experience to be solid whether he's taking a solo or just laying down the groove. We call him the "Steel Trap". Jim is one of the original founding members of the band.

John Conley –bass, lead and backup vocals

John's expert versatility on either bass or drums as well as his extraordinary attention to detail make for a solid foundation to our songs and keep us on track for an accurate rendition. We think he knows how to play every song ever written, and can tell you who did the song and who's version he is playing. His ability to sing both lead and backup vocals adds to the bands ability to faithfully reproduce the vocal style of the song making Smithville a great tribute band.

Wendy OToole – keyboards, lead and backup vocals

Crank up the synth! One of the founding members of the band, Wendy's ability to reproduce the original sound of the song, play everything from the strings to the horns to guitar or piano and still sing both lead and backup give the band a full sound that remains faithful to the original. Just don't ask her the name of the song. She can play it, she can sing it, but she can't remember the name of it! Her ability to sing Fleetwood Mac, Trisha Yearwood and a host of others gives Smithville South the versatility needed for a reliable tribute/cover band.

Jon Klein – lead and backup vocals, incidental percussion

"The Skipper" is one of the newest members of the band rounding out our vocal flexibility, bringing front energy to the stage, and providing great lead vocals on rockers like Bad Case of Lovin' You and the smooth blending lead vocal on The Eagles' Tequila Sunrise. His versatility allows Smithville South to offer a wide variety of crowd-pleasing genres . Not to mention playing a seriously mean tambourine. Seriously!

Wayne Langguth – percussion and backup vocals

Wayne has been playing something most of his life – horns, guitar, vocals, bass, and now percussion! With his wickedly quiet sense of humor and willingness to try playing anything once, he lays down a solid backdrop for both great dance songs and moving ballads. You don't always hear it, but you know when it is missing! Wayne's musicianship and flexibility are foundational for that iconic 70s, 80s and 90s sound.

Matt Parsons – Drums

Matt may be the youngest member of the band, but his experience goes well beyond his years. He honed his skills touring with recording artist Marcc Nutter, and sharing the stage with some of country music's legendary artists. Equally at home in all genres, Matt's driving beats and smooth grooves provide the perfect canvas for the artistry of Smithville South.
